

DRINKS at the TEMPEST

THREE customers each got a different cocktail at the Tempest Bar, each from a different bartender.

Each customer owes money to one of the bartenders, and each bartender is owed money by just one customer. Bartenders don't trust customers who owe them money, and will never serve them.

Each bartender previously dated one or more of the customers, except Ana, who is a true professional. Each customer dated just one of the bartenders, but some customers dated the same one!

All those former relationships have soured or gotten awkward, so no bartender served a customer that they once dated!

Carlo dated more customers than their colleague Bertie, and is kind of obnoxious about it.

Sabrina once secretly dated Bertie.

Phylicia got a delicious Gin & Tonic, garnished with an organic lime wedge.

Carlo prepared a negroni for somebody, but he thinks they are far too bitter.

Ana didn't serve Nanci. Honestly, I'm a little surprised Nanci got served at all. She was very rude!

Sabrina owes money to Bertie.
